Weekly Column By Denzel Anderson: Forget The Zanu-PF Side Shows - We Are Winning This Election

By Denzel Anderson

Hello and good morning to all the Citizens who are reading the Citizens' Daily Bulletin.

When we started this publication as Citizens - we knew where it was going to and what it was going to be - even during the days when we were working with the prototypes.

But today we are the single biggest digital newspaper that is circulating among the Citizens of Zimbabwe - and setting the pace for every else to follow.

The Citizens' Daily Bulletin is here to change the narrative that has been peddled by dinosaurs such as Zimpapers, ZBC, and all the other hang-ers-on that masquerade as free press in Zimbabwe today.

We have created a fresh new space for the Citizens of Zimbabwe to express themselves freely in digital media that is not controlled by apologists and media manipulators who are doing their duty in the woody corridors of the Zanu-PF government.

Since my last column last week in the Citizens' Daily Bulletin - I have received a lot of feedback from many readers over why Zanu-PF is jealous of the strides that we are making to take power on August 23 - and forever after. Winning elections in Zimbabwe is easy - taking power is an entirely different story.

What Zanu-PF does not realise is that we have prepared for all their tricks, shenanigans, and skulduggery that they have been employing to steal the vote for many years. This time we have closed all the loopholes and there is no theft of the people's vote that is going to happen.

A great new Zimbabwe is loading.

Everyone saw what they tried to do by fielding bogus candidates and double names when those names had not been filed and verified with the Citizens electoral processes. Take the case of that man Nyasha Enock Chitoro - the bogus double candidate for Chitungwiza North. He is just a Zanu-PF member. He tried to hide his ties to the ruining party by wiping off his social media praise songs and deleted his Zanu-PF twitter account. What an amateur. We don't need to be scientists to see this. It is just plain Zanu-PF stupidity.

As Citizens we must not even be worried about these side shows which are created by ZANU-PF so that we lose focus on the bigger picture. They are losing this election - by far.

Let's take President Chamisa to State House first - and then we deal with the ZANU-PF shenanigans later. We don't have double CCC Presidential Candidates and so let's work hard to ensure that we protect pout vote against the party that has destroyed Zimbabwe.

President Chamisa is the Biblical Moses who is leading the Citizens of Zimbabwe into the glory of new Nation. He will make sure that he builds our country and also creates opportunities for everyone.

Our own Joshua Is going to genuinely fight corruption not what we are witnessing now.

Without rented crowds, Zanu-PF can't even gather 100 people for a tea party.

People are tired of old promises. ZANU-PF is busy busing and abusing our parents so that it can match with the CCC gatherings.

They created poverty so that they can control our parents. They move around telling people that they must go and attend the ZANU-PF rallies for them to get seed and maize. This is the oldest form of campaigning. People want hope - not handouts. People want results not promises or donations.

Zanu-PF is busy creating fake legal companies, hiring fake lawyers to represent fake candidates in fake areas.

They cannot even see the huge split that has been created among themselves and this is now the most fractious Zanu-PF since the 1960s.

Zanu-PF is busy running to court creating charges against one of their own candidates. It is the most bizarre political incident ever.

Under the leadership of the CCC we are going to win this election resoundingly and we are going to chart the way forward with this country.

Till next week

Denzel Anderson is writing in his own capacity.

Legitimate CCC Candidate Speaks Out Against Double Candidates Sting Operation

By Citizens' Daily Bulletin Correspondent

Traswell Chikomo, one of the legitimate candidates of the Citizens Coalition for Change (CCC), has vehemently distanced himself from the criminal activity orchestrated by Zanu PF, which involved the installation of double candidates within the CCC in the upcoming elections.

Chikomo found himself embroiled in the legal proceedings regarding the double candidates when the CCC lawyers erroneously cited him in the litigation before the Electoral Court.

This inadvertent mention provided an opportunity for the lawyers representing the fraudulent candidates to claim that Chikomo was their client and that they had the authority to represent him.

Taking matters into his own hands, Chikomo released a video on social media, also shared by the CCC on their social media platform, to set the record straight.

In the video, he asserted that he is the genuine and authorized candidate for the Churu constituency.

Clarifying the misunderstanding, Chikomo declared, "I was mistakenly cited in the legal case against the fraudulent double candidates. My nomination as the candidate for Churu is valid, and I am not part of the legal proceedings."

Expressing his disbelief, Chikomo revealed his shock at the false claims made by the lawyers allegedly representing him as part of the double candidates.

He emphasized, "They are not my lawyers. The actions of this group are rooted in falsehood and fraud."

The CCC, in response to Chikomo's public statement, remarked, "The fraudulent double candidates sting operation continues to ensnare itself in confusion."

Meanwhile, the imposter candidate for the Churu constituency has been identified as Tichaona Nyikadzino, further exposing the extent of the deceit within the double candidates scheme.

As the legitimacy and credibility of the CCC's candidates become increasingly entangled in this complex web of duplicity, Chikomo's courageous decision to speak out against the fraud sheds light on the unified front of the genuine candidates who are determined to uphold the principles and integrity of the party.

Third Force Implicated In Masarirevu Saga As Defiance Stirs Controversy

■ In an intriguing turn of events, Freddy Masarirevu, who has recently garnered attention for controversial reasons, finds himself at the center of a double candidate scandal involving a third force within and outside the Citizens' Coalition for Change (CCC).

By Tongai Mwenje

Masarirevu, a local legal practitioner who participated in the CCC candidate selection process but did not meet the criteria involved in the subsequent stages, has surprised many by declaring his intentions to represent the CCC in the upcoming elections, despite not being authorized by the party.

This abrupt change of heart has left observers questioning what might have prompted this alteration of his position.

Initially, Masarirevu had accepted the candidate nomination results and even congratulated the winner, vowing his support.

In a Twitter thread, he addressed the St Marys citizens, saying, "Thank you for supporting me throughout the selection process. We won in several wards and came second in others, but unfortunately, other criteria were considered. Let's congratulate the winner and support him. We conducted ourselves peacefully and with Christian values."

Masarirevu's sudden reversal prompted the Citizens' Daily Bulletin team to investigate the circumstances surrounding this defiance and its significance within the party.

To provide some context, the CCC employed a four-stage process for selecting the best candidates to represent them in the upcoming elections. The stages included candidate nomination, stakeholder consultation, vetting, and citizens' caucuses.

Among these stages, vetting was crucial, as it involved a thorough examination of factors such as political history, loyalty, and security to ensure the endorsement of uncompromised candidates.

In his acceptance tweet, Masarirevu acknowledged that despite receiving the highest number of votes in certain wards, he could not be considered the party's representative due to the consideration of other factors. Ironically, it is these very factors that Masarirevu is now defying.

Investigation into the matter has revealed that Masarirevu, despite initially accepting the process, was later instructed to defy the party's decision by individuals whose names have been disclosed to this journalist.

These individuals, some of whom are members within and outside the party, are pushing an agenda aimed at weakening the CCC leading up to the general elections. They not only instructed Masarirevu to defy the party but also to commit forgery by fabricating the party's signatories. For the record, the party had only three authorized signatories for the Member of Parliament candidates nationwide.

None of these signatories signed his papers. Masarirevu, a young man with a promising political future if he were to make progressive and independent decisions, is being used as a pawn to undermine the party and its leader, Advocate Nelson Chamisa.

Critics have questioned the wisdom behind Masarirevu's insistence on representing the citizens of St Mary's under the CCC, a party that has disavowed his candidature.

Some have suggested that he should have chosen the independent route to represent his supporters in the upcoming elections.

"If Freddy felt aggrieved by the CCC's unfair treatment, the logical step would have been to run as an independent candidate. His insistence on running on the CCC ticket while they deny his candidacy suggests that he may never have truly had the party's best interests at heart," commented Solomon Harudzibwi, a digital strategist.

These malcontents backing him, are pushing for him to defy party orders in order to portray the CCC as disorganized and in disarray.

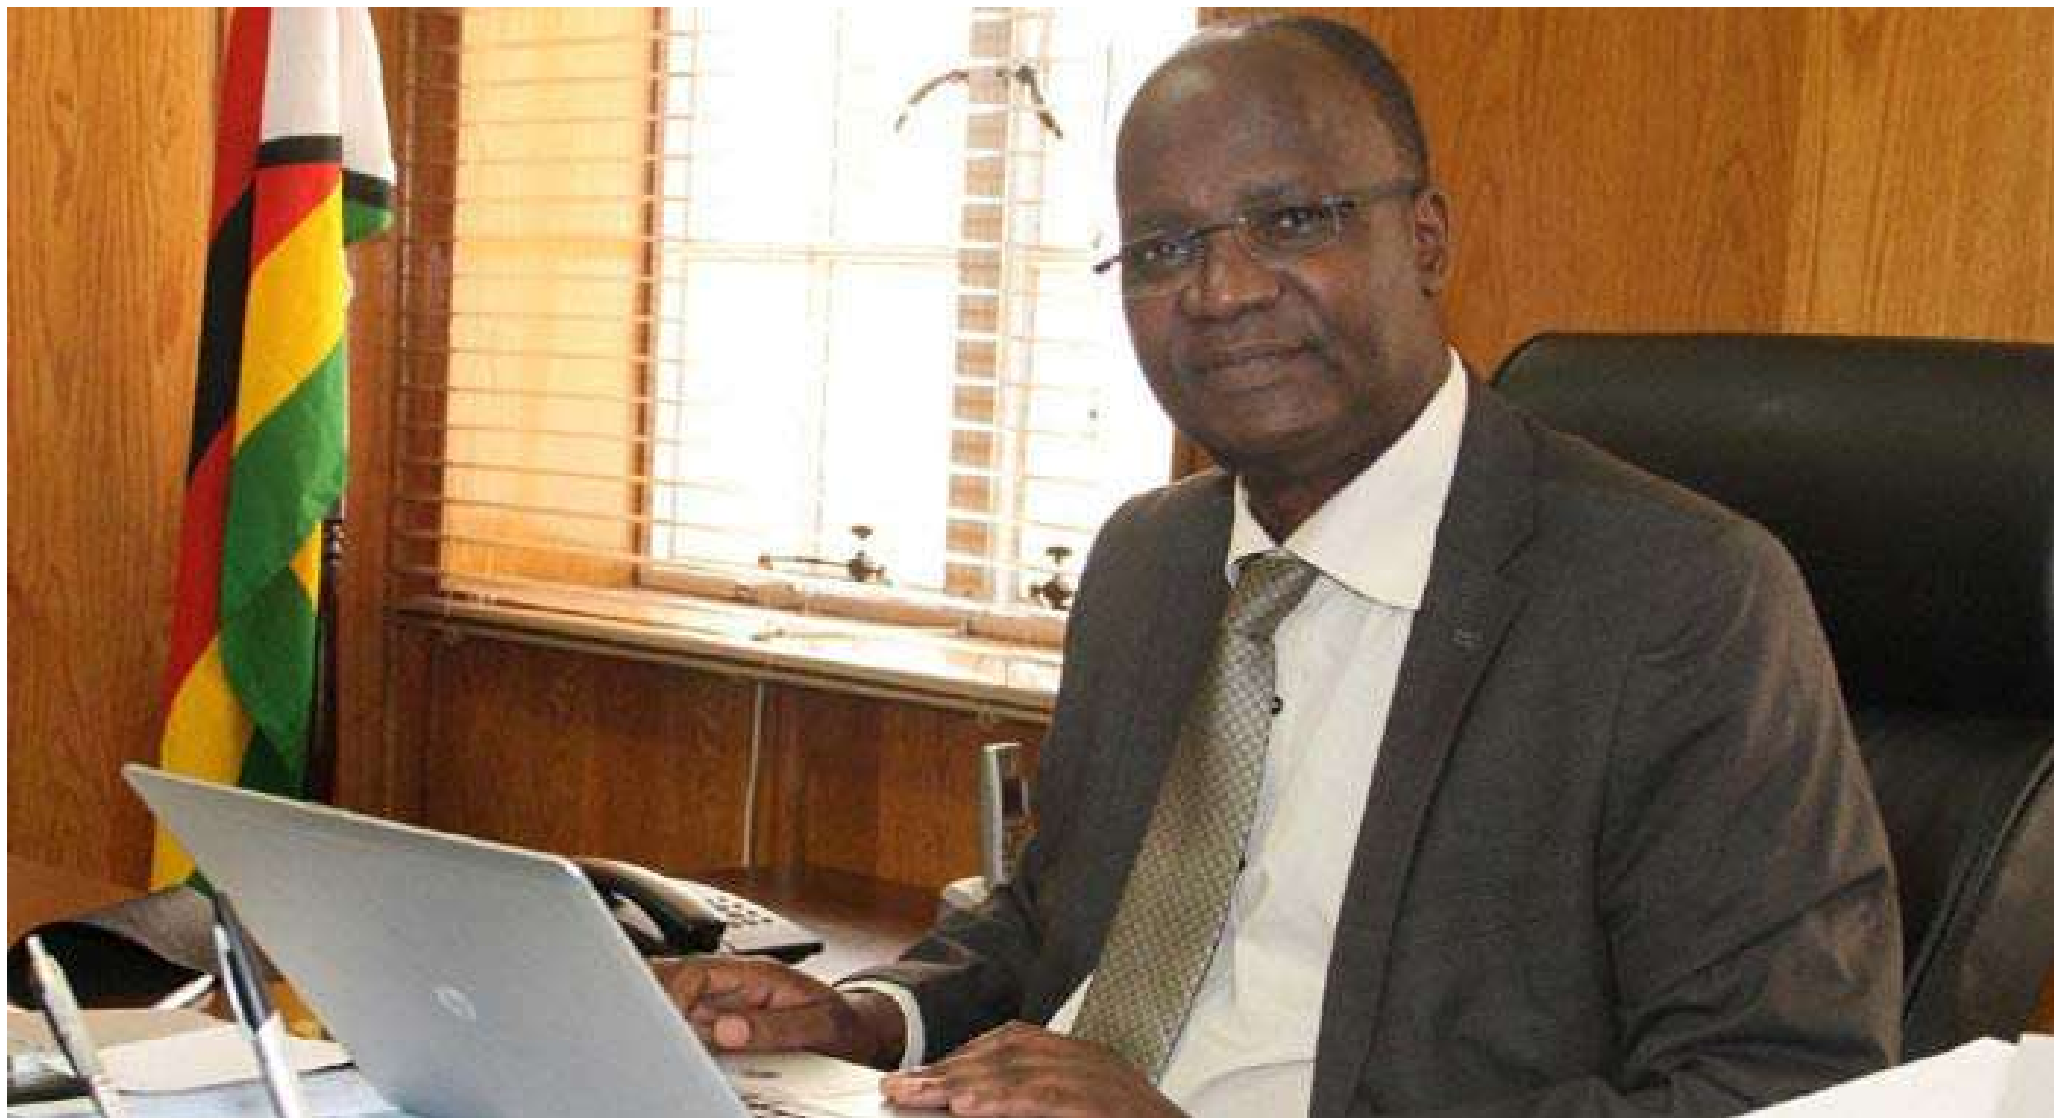

"Those who advised Masarirevu to defy his party leaders find themselves in a dilemma. They have exposed themselves by avoiding this topic. Their silence is deafening, as it reveals their influence. This confirms the existence of a third force at play," Harudzibwi stated, implicating a hidden agenda behind Masarirevu's behavior.

The main objective appears to be tarnishing the image of Adv. Nelson Chamisa, the leader of the CCC and a founding member of the party.

Jonathan Moyo Exposed For Spreading Falsehoods

■ In a shocking turn of events, Professor Jonathan Moyo has been caught in a web of lies after sharing a video that he claimed portrayed disgruntled members of the Citizens Coalition for Change (CCC) heckling Amos Chibaya, the party's organizer, in Bulawayo on Sunday.

By Tongai Mwenje

However, the truth behind Moyo's claims quickly unraveled when it was revealed that Chibaya was addressing party members at a rally in Gweru at the same time. Moyo, who is ardently pushing for a return to a party, Zanu PF, that previously endangered his family's lives during a 2017 coup that ousted the late President Robert Mugabe, had hoped to exploit this fabricated incident to fuel animosity towards the CCC.

He attached a tweet to the 27-second video, captioning it: "Amos Chibaya Heckled in Bulawayo over Imposition of CCC Candidates."

According to Moyo's tweet, Chibaya was supposedly sent to Bulawayo by Advocate Nelson Chamisa, the leader of the CCC, in an attempt to ease tensions arising from the party's allegedly imposed candidates for the upcoming August 2023 harmonised general election.

Moyo claimed that candidates who had either lost in the party's "Bereka Mwana" community selection caucuses or had not participated were causing discontent among the CCC members.

However, the claims made by Moyo and the video he shared were quickly debunked by CCC deputy spokesperson, Gift Siziba.

Siziba firmly stated that Chibaya had been in Mkoba the entire previous day (Sunday), tirelessly campaigning and connecting with the people on the ground.

He also criticized Moyo for propagating fake news and lacking in substantial evidence to support his claims, ultimately dismissing Moyo's credibility.

The revelation of Moyo's lies not only exposes his unethical behavior but also raises questions about his motives in striving to return to a party with a history of endangering his own loved ones.

It further calls into question the authenticity of his political agenda and the veracity of his claims against the CCC.

As the dust settles on this controversial incident, it is evident that Moyo's credibility has been severely damaged because of the morden day technology.

His role in spreading misinformation about the CCC has been seen by many as an attempt to please his former masters in the hopes of being accommodated back into the party.

This incident serves as a cautionary tale about the dangers of false narratives and the need for responsible reporting in the face of politicised falsehoods.

Make Or Break For Zimbabwe Against Scotland In Crunch World Cup Qualifier

By Kevin Hand
BBC Sport Africa

Zimbabwe have hosted the past two World Cup qualifiers but stand on the verge of eliminating the West Indies, Ireland and Scotland this time Zimbabwe coach Dave Houghton says the country has united behind his team as they bid to reach the World Cup because they have something to "truly love".

The south-west African country is hosting the qualifiers for October and November's 50-over showpiece in India.

They face Scotland in Bulawayo in the Super Six on Tuesday, a winner-takes-all finale to join Sri Lanka as one of the two teams to qualify.

"It will be like winning a World Cup," Houghton told BBC Sport Africa.

"We've just got to make sure we get out there, play our best game and, if we do, we're going to be tough to beat. I can't think of it any other way."

West Indies and Ireland have already been eliminated from the closely contested qualifiers.

Sunday's defeat by Sri Lanka has left the host nation needing to overcome a Scotland side who, like Zimbabwe, overcame the Windies.

The qualifying tournament, the second that Zimbabwe has hosted consecutively, comes 20 years after the black-armband protests by Andy Flower and Henry Olonga against former president Robert Mugabe.

There has been huge political, economic and social hardship in the interim, but Houghton believes a new dawn awaits and the current qualifiers have brought the country together.

"I think Zimbabweans in general are just looking for something that they can really support and get behind it - and truly love," he said.

"Cricket has given them that, especially in the past 12 months. It started, I believe, at the qualifiers last year for the T20 (World Cup)."

"The public love them like their own children" Following qualification for last year's 20-over showpiece in Australia, Zimbabwe hosted Bangladesh and India, beating the former in both the T20 and one-day international series, before then overcoming Australia in Townsville during their three-match one-day series.

"Each game the crowds got bigger and bigger," said Houghton. "You started going to shops to buy your groceries and people would greet you: 'Hi, coach. How you doing?' People I've never met before in my life.

"You could feel there was a swell of support coming on. We went to the T20 World Cup and you saw the group of people following us around in Australia.

"So it's just grown and grown and grown. The support has been outstanding - it was there but they really wanted to get behind and support a winning team.
